
Conversation After holidays

Holidays

1. How was your Christmas last year? Did you spend it with your family or friends?
2. Did you rest enough during the holidays? Why or why not?
3. What is one good memory you have from the end of last year?
4. Did you travel during the holidays or stay in your city?
5. What did you enjoy the most during your vacation?

1. Where would you like to go next holidays?
2. Did you do something different this year compared to other years?
3. What was something simple that made you happy during your vacation?

1. What do you usually like to do on New Year's Eve?
2. Did you make any wishes or plans for the new year?
3. What do you hope will be different this year?
4. How do you usually feel when a new year starts?
5. What is one small habit you would like to improve this year?

1. What kind of trips do you enjoy the most: beach, countryside, city or staying home?
2. Do you prefer long vacations or short trips? Why?

1. Did the holidays help you relax or reflect more about your life?
 2. How important are vacations and rest for you?
-

English focus

1. How do you feel when you speak English today?
2. What do you think blocks or slows down your English the most?
3. What is the hardest part of English for you right now?

1. What would you like to improve more this year: speaking, listening or confidence?
2. In which situations would you like to feel more confident speaking English?
3. How do you think English can help you in your personal or professional life?
4. Where do you think English can take you in the future?

1. What motivates you to continue learning English?
 2. What would “speaking English well” mean for you?
 3. At the end of this year, what would make you feel proud about your English?
-

 LISTENING — Train your ear daily

1. Listen to short videos (1–3 minutes) every day.

Focus on the general idea, not every word.

2. Watch videos with English subtitles first.

Match sound and text.

3. Listen to the same audio more than once.

Each time, you understand more.

4. Pay attention to common words and phrases.

Ignore details at the beginning.

5. Listen while doing simple tasks (walking, cooking).

Make English part of your routine.

6. Repeat short sentences you hear.

This improves listening and pronunciation.

 SPEAKING — Practice without fear

1. Speak alone for 1–2 minutes per day.

Talk about your day or plans.

2. Use simple sentences you can say fast.

Fluency comes from simplicity.

3. Repeat useful phrases many times.

Repetition creates automatic speech.

4. Don't stop to correct every mistake.

Keep the conversation going.

5. Practice answers to common questions.

Work, routine, family, plans.

6. Record your voice sometimes.

Listening to yourself helps a lot.

READING — Understand without translating everything

1. Read short texts like posts or messages.

Don't start with long articles.

2. Look for the main idea, not all details.

Ask: "What is this about?"

3. Highlight useful words, not all new words.

Quality over quantity.

4. Read topics you like or use in real life.

Work, travel, routine, hobbies.

5. Read the same text twice if needed.

Second reading is always easier.

6. Avoid translating word by word.

Try to understand by context.

WRITING — Simple, clear and consistent

1. Write one simple sentence per day.

Consistency is more important than length.

2. Write about your day or routine.

Real life = real English.

3. Use structures you already know.

Don't try to sound advanced.

4. Reuse sentences from class.

This builds confidence.

5. Write first, correct later.

Perfection blocks progress.

6. Read your sentence out loud after writing.

Writing and speaking together.

CONFIDENCE— Mindset before grammar

1. Accept mistakes as part of learning.

Mistakes mean progress.

2. Focus on communication, not perfection.

Being understood is the goal.

3. Compare yourself only to your past self.

Not to other students.

4. Celebrate small improvements.

Every sentence counts.

5. Use English every day, even a little.

Frequency builds confidence.

6. Trust the process and be patient.

Fluency takes time.